I made a portrait notice (1080×1440) for the e-Office Assistant post at Central University of Tamil Nadu, all in English, with no “posted on” and no days-left counter. It uses a navy and white look with an amber band at the bottom for the last date.

It shows:

- Header: university name and address, plus the advertisement number.
- Key facts: 2 vacancies (tentative), ₹25,000 per month consolidated, and a 6-month engagement that may be extended.
- Eligibility: B.E./B.Tech. in a computing or electronics branch, or MCA; 1 year of eOffice, eGovernance, database or coding experience; maximum age 35.
- Selection: screening, written test if required, interview, then original document verification.
- How to apply: by email, post or courier to the Joint Registrar, with the university’s address.
- Last date: 20 November 2026.

I took the details beyond your table from a third-party job site (FacultyPlus), because I couldn’t open the official PDF directly. Please check them against the PDF on cutn.ac.in before sharing. I left out the recruitment email address because the site hid it.

The link is private until you share it from the page’s Share menu.

Created a file, shared a file

I've sent the HTML file, `CUTN_eOffice_Assistant_Notice.html`. It has the same design and content as the notice, and it resizes to fit phone and desktop screens. It needs internet only to load the fonts, and otherwise falls back to system fonts.

I added your two links as buttons in the "How to apply" section: "Official Advertisement (PDF)" and "Application Form (PDF)". They are in both the design on the canvas and the standalone HTML file, which I've sent again as `CUTN_eOffice_Assistant_Notice.html`.

I also removed the old line that sent people to cutn.ac.in, since the buttons now cover that.
